Due to COVID-19 all charity events/workshops have been postponed. When we are able to have safe and positive charity events again we hope you will all join us. In the meantime, please be safe, be justice, be positive, be kind, be wise and MOST importantly trust your positive thinking journey. Thank you so very much to those who have continued to make donations and who have purchased "Secrets To Empowering Me!" books!!! To receive your positive discount enter promo code "fashion." May I humbly remind you, YOUR positive thinking it is not traditional and neither is Secrets To Empowering Me! books. Positive thinking it is as effortless as the A.I.R. we breathe it only becomes difficult when we allow negative thinking people to start breathing for us. Keep Activating, Igniting and Re-Charging your positive thinking mind. Help others too. You may be the voice that can help others find their positive thinking peace and more! Positive Thinkers supporting other Positive Thinkers all we will do is Achieve, Succeed and Win~ @yvettelkelley7 Facebook, Twitter, Instagram & LinkedIn.

Wannae' Anderson - Fashion Blogger - MARYLAND

My name is Wannae' Anderson (pronounced 1-A). I am a nurse by profession, and a beauty enthusiast by passion. I love to uplift women, but especially those ages 40 plus! Every woman doesn't always exude and have that confidence or positivity about themselves externally. I wanted to create a platform that would inspire women, and give them ideas to explore with hair, makeup, jewelry and fashion. This has allowed me to connect with some beautiful and empowering women that all have the same goal. That goal is to empower one another, and every woman that we come in contact with. I started my company in February of this year with an idea of a blog, and it has given me some great opportunities! The goal is to partner with fashion and beauty brands for great content while providing resources for my readers. You can find me on IG, Facebook, Twitter and YouTube, at Dark Diva House Of Beauty. My blog is <http://www.darkdivahouseofbeauty.com>. Hopefully it continues to inspire beauty inside and out!

Ysabel Hilado - Fashion Designer, LOS ANGELES

My name is Ysabel Hilado. I'm a 22-year-old womenswear fashion designer in the Los Angeles area. I started my journey as a fashion designer when I was in middle school. At the time, I was only 13 and didn't have a source of income. I didn't want to ask my parents all the time for money when I wanted to buy the latest trends at the mall. I am now attending Long Beach City College (LBCC) and California State University, Long Beach (CSULB) for their fashion program while also working a part-time job. My first semester of college, in 2016 was the first time I ever took a formal sewing class. Currently, there's no events lined up due to COVID-19, but I am posting my work and what I'm up to daily on social media! I want to inspire the youth and young adults, my age, that you don't need to have a lot of money to pursue a passion. From the beginning of my journey to now, I've received countless opportunities from fashion shows to even getting casted on the television show, Project Runway Junior Season 1 in 2015. I'm using TikTok and YouTube, to specifically teach people sewing tips and techniques. All my work, features, and contact information can be found on my website <http://www.ysabelhilado.com>. All my social media (Instagram, Facebook, Twitter, TikTok) are all under my name, @ysabelhilado.
